

Digital Stories for Change Project Summary

One of the many important reasons for this plan I've talked about, and created to hopefully lessen the amount of drunk drivers, specifically teens. The CDC reports that around 20% of all teenage drivers (mainly 16-19) that end up in fatal accidents had alcohol in their systems. This project points out this teenage drunk driving situation, and provides details on how we can't fully stop it. we can provide harmless paths to oneself and others that may be unlucky enough to end up in the collision. I talk about this because I want my family members, peers, friends, and community members to all be safe of this hazard. Not only does this plan work for teens that have a full life ahead of them, it will also work on any adult.

This project connects to the FCS National Standard 7.2 since it talks about the facts of teen drunk driving and laws in place to help prevent it. Unfortunately people don't always abide by those laws which thankfully my state has laws in place, but in the event they make that bad decision they have a safe option that can help them and their surroundings. I say to all of these bad decisions is "call for help" cause need help? Call for it! That's the name and slogan for the program that helps with this situation

SCRIPT/NARRATION	"There are preventions in place to block underage drinking and driving. Such as the Zero Tolerance Act, Parental Involvement, Graduated Driver Licensing, and Minimum Legal Drinking Age. A plan that has been most recently created is having a phone a friend program as well as a Call For Help hand out."		"What is a Phone a Friend Program? you may ask. It is a program that has recently been created to invalidate, and hopefully lessen drivers that have consumed alcohol. Participants will exchange contacts with a trusted person, and who has legal ability to drive. Such as people who are free on that day or can help anytime."			"A separate idea created to lower the number of drunk drivers is Call For Help. Call For Help are business-like cards that have a trusted person's information on it along with how many people they can carry, and when they are available. These cards will be located at any establishment that have purchasable alcohol. (Gas stations, bars, liquor stores, etc)"
